

Reference for Mr. Omer Sharif

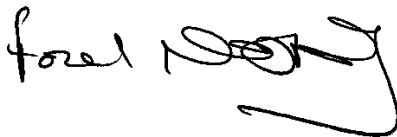

10 January 2014

To Whom it May Concern

I have known Mr. Omer Sharif for around one year. He enrolled in one of my subjects called Advanced Robotic. As a final year elective subjects, there is a group project associated with the subject and students are expected to design and simulate a robotics manipulator for a specific defined assembly task. Omer showed a great deal of initiative and enthusiasm in participating in this project. He supported his group unconditionally and showed a great deal of problem solving ability and creativity in addressing the requirement of the project.

Overall, Omer has demonstrated to be an intelligent, focused, hardworking and at the same time humble and realistic individual. He takes his commitments seriously and endeavours to achieve the tasks expected from him in the best of his ability. His gentle and cooperative character combined with his academic and generic abilities make him a good candidate to conduct further research towards a higher degree. He has my full support.

Fazel Naghdy

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'fazel naghdy' with a stylized flourish at the end.

Professor and Director of Centre for Intelligent Mechatronics Research